

LOCAL NEWS.

A NEW PAPER.—We have received the first No. of "T. Manley's Detector and Money Adviser," published in this city. As may be inferred from its name, the object of this paper is to keep the public advised of the rates of exchange, a description of all counterfeits, &c., as well as the mercantile news from the North, with the arrivals of vessels in New York and the District. It is proposed to issue the paper once a week, at $2 50 per annum.

TWENTY-EIGHTH CONGRESS,

FIRST SESSION.

TUESDAY, APRIL 16, 1844.

SENATE.

Messrs. BATES, PHELPS, and TAPPAN severally presented remonstrances against the annexation of Texas.

Messrs. STURGEON, PHELPS, and BAYARD presented memorials objecting to any alteration in the existing tariff.

Mr. CHOATE presented the memorial of Jas. Richardson, et al., of Boston, against the passage of an international copyright law.

Mr. PHELPS presented a memorial from C. M. Keller, Examiner of Patents, praying that he may be allowed to take out a patent for an invention.

Mr. JARNAGIN, from the Committee on Pensions, made a report upon House bill 185, with a recommendation that it do not pass.

Mr. HUNTINGTON, from the Committee on Commerce, reported in favor of the indefinite postponement of the bill to establish a new collection district in Florida, to be called the Suwannee district, with direction that the Secretary of the Treasury, in the recess, collect data to show the extent of trade in that region.

Several messages in writing were received from the President, by hand of his Private Secretary, Mr. John Tyler, Jr.

POST OFFICE BILL.

The bill to remodel the Post Office regulations was taken up, and the rest of the day spent upon it.

Mr. MERRICK submitted several technical amendments, which were adopted. Among the amendments was one striking out the word week, and inserting month in its place, as applying to newspapers. Mr. M. said he had learnt that there were several valuable newspapers, bona fide such, which were published monthly—the object was to include them.

An amendment, submitted by Mr. WOODBURY, that instead of doubling the postage (after the first half ounce) upon every quarter ounce additional weight, it should be raised 50 per cent on each quarter ounce, prevailed, on a division, by a vote of 17 to 15.

Mr. WRIGHT moved to amend by abolishing the franking privilege, excepting only that memorials, &c., may be sent to the President and Secretary of the Senate, and Speaker and Clerk of the House.

Mr. FOSTER, of Tenn., opposed this. He did not regard this franking privilege as a privilege, but as a burthen; still he would keep the avenues of communication open between the constituent and representative. In reply to the argument that this reform was called for in memorials, Mr. F. said he did not regard the number of signers as of much import; he knew how such things were gotten up; few ever read what they signed, unless it was a money paper. A memorial to hang the Hon. Senator and the President, would get signers.

Mr. WRIGHT hoped that if such a memorial was drawn up, it would not be made joint and several; but if he was to have such an elevation, it might be alone.

After some remarks by Mr. MERRICK, who said that, so far as he was personally concerned, it was not probable that the bill would affect him long in this respect, but he had drawn it with a view to the interests and demands of the public. The vote was taken, and the amendment was rejected, 35 to 5.

The Senate spent the remainder of the session in the consideration of the bill, and, without any final action upon it, adjourned.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

Mr. CRANSTON, of R. I., presented the protest of the Legislature of his State to the Dorr memorial, and proceedings thereon by the House of Representatives. The protest and resolutions were laid on the table and ordered to be printed.

ELECTION OF PRESIDENT AND VICE PRESIDENT.

Mr. DUNCAN moved to suspend the rules that the House might go into Committee of the Whole, and take up the bill naming one day for these elections in all the States. The yeas and nays were ordered, and were 71 to 68—motion lost.

RHODE ISLAND.

Mr. BURKE desired, at this point, to say something about the Rhode Island protest, and Mr. WELLS, to enable him to do so, moved to reconsider the vote whereby the same was ordered to be printed.

A discussion followed, in which Messrs. White, Potter, Payne, and Cranston participated. It was charged that matter was attached to resolutions of the Rhode Island Legislature which were sent to the table, which it was intended, clandestinely, to have printed.

This charge was repelled with proper spirit by Messrs. Cranston and Potter.

Mr. CAUSIN made an eloquent speech, in spite of numerous efforts to interrupt him by calls to order, &c., upon the merits of the Rhode Island question. He sustained the ground taken by the Governor and Legislature of this State, that Congress had no right to interfere in their internal concerns. Congress had no supervision over State constitutions; if it had what would it do with the constitution of New Hampshire, that Republican State which upheld rebellion abroad, and persecuted Catholicism at home.

Mr. C. denied that suffrage, as had been asserted on this floor, was a natural right—it was not so regarded in any written constitution, or in any declaration of rights. Suffrage was conferred upon terms; age, sex, taxation, conformity to certain laws, were considerations which entered into this right. He repeated that it little became New Hampshire to arraign Rhode Island, and the "Royal Charter" which they had striven to make smell to Heaven as some rank offence.

Mr. PAYNE asked if this old charter of Rhode Island did not allow slaves to vote?

No, said Mr. CAUSIN, it contains no such provision.

Mr. PAYNE then wished to know if Mr. Dorr's constitution did not prohibit slaves from voting?

Mr. C. said he did not know, and did not care. It was no part of our concern what any constitution of any State proposes or adopts. It belongs to the State, and not to us. If a State wishes to admit negroes to vote, he would not interfere—would the gentleman from Alabama? And if he would, what would be the consequence? Congress might then interfere with slavery in the States, and abolish it, if it chose so to do. If we admitted this principle with regard to Rhode Island, we must admit it in all other States, and with the most fearful consequences.

As soon as Mr. C. closed his eloquent speech, a debate followed on some point of order, and a scene of confusion followed.

Messrs. SCHENCK and WELLER rose at the same time to address the Chair, who recognized the gentleman from Ohio.

Mr. SCHENCK, "which of them?"

The SPEAKER turned his eye towards Mr. Weller, and Mr. Schenck took his seat with a look that seemed to speak his utter despair of getting his right, for he had risen at the side of the last speaker, and his colleague had risen on the other side of the House.

An hour was consumed in discussing little else than trivial points of order.

The upshot of the matter was, that the House ordered the Dorr memorial to be printed by a vote of 76 to 60, and the Protest of the Rhode Island Legislature by a vote of 129 to 20.

ARMY BILL.

Mr. STETSON, of N. Y., moved to reconsider the vote by which the House yesterday passed this bill, with a view to get in an amendment appropriating $15,000 for the purpose of repairing the fortifications at Newport.

After a brief debate the vote was reconsidered, and the bill again brought before the House.

The amendment for repairs at Newport was rejected.

The bill was again passed, and the House adjourned.

[We were wrong in saying in our last report that this bill was not made to conform to the bill reducing the pay of the Army—it was so framed.]

LOVE AND PATRIOTISM, a Poem, by Richard L. Stewart Evans, Counsellor-at-Law, for sale at Brooke's periodical agency, and at Taylor's, Morrison's, and Farnham's bookstores.

The following extracts are taken from some of the notices:

From the National Intelligencer.

LOVE AND PATRIOTISM, a Poem, pronounced by Richard S. Evans, at Bowdoin College, at the annual commencement. Portland—Charles Day & Co., printers.

The above is the title of a poem, by Richard S. Evans, of Washington, which has been just published in Portland, Maine. The following remarks upon this performance, are from the Portland Daily Advertiser, of September 7. It was amusing to listen to the observation to this performance. Nonsense, says one. Beautiful, adds another. Horrible, splendid, silly, and grand, were epithets profusely lavished. Surely that man is a poet who gains such praise and such abuse. And verily we believe Evans can and did write poetry. There were parts of this Poem which appeared as pure and gorgeous poetry; for instance, the allusion to the American Bird in connexion with Poland; Campbell himself has not done better, &c.

From the Globe.

The following brief allusion to Poland, is from Evans's Poem on Love and Patriotism, a production which is very highly praised, &c.

From the Alexandria Gazette.

Mr. Richard S. Evans is a gentleman who has long occupied a conspicuous station, as an anonymous writer, in some of the principal literary journals; and to whom the world is indebted, for some of the finest specimens of poetry and learning, &c. ap 12—d1wtaw2m.

PLANO FORTE WAREROOM.

NUNNS & CLARK'S Piano Agency, under Apollo Hall.—Just received, two superior Piano Fortes, from the well known and highly popular factory of Messrs. Nunn & Clark, of New York; one is an elegant rosewood six and a half octave Piano Forte, grand action, of new style, a superior instrument; the other a mahogany six octave, grand action, of new style, a superior instrument.

It would be needless to enter into detail in regard to the merits of those pianos, as the manufacturers' names are a sufficient guaranty of their excellence, both in point of tone and durability, as I am authorized in saying that, in eighteen years' manufacturing, then has never been one piano returned as being defective.

Ladies and gentlemen in want of a superior piano, will do well to call at the Piano Wareroom before purchasing elsewhere. Pianos can be furnished from the above factory to order by the undersigned, and shipped to any port, thereby saving the expense of a tour to New York. Members of Congress and others might find this to their advantage, as all pianos from the above establishment are warranted. mar 26—1m WM. MORROW.
